

December 2018

Medical Equipment - UK

“The rising costs associated with healthcare, the pressure on hospital in-patient services, and potential improvements to quality of life are driving a move towards treating patients in their own home. As a result, equipment and devices traditionally associated with hospital use are making their way into the community alongside moves ...