“With large elements of the market dependent on construction activity in commercial and industrial sector, it has suffered a difficult period post-2008. However, the prospects are now for strong growth over the next five years as construction in important sectors drive demand.”
 – Terry Leggett, Senior Analyst

This report looks at the following areas:

- How strongly will the market develop over the next five years?
- Is that growth sustainable over the entire five years and what will be the market drivers?
- Which sectors hold the best prospects in what is expected to be a dynamic market?
- How is air conditioning equipment reaching the market?
- How have companies involved in the market fared during the downturn that followed 2008?

Information provided within this report in relation to production, imports and exports are based on non-domestic air conditioning equipment only, and as such the totals are not directly comparable to the market value and market segmentation figures quoted in this report.
