“Given its sensitivity to economic processes, the estate agents market has been at the forefront of Brexit uncertainties over the past year. The market was able to maintain growth as it continued its trajectory of year-on-year increases, but market conditions and evolving consumer behaviour have forced structural changes.”

– Marco Amasanti, B2B analyst

This report looks at the following areas:

- How has the market performed over the past year given the air of uncertainty triggered by the EU referendum?
- What have been the drivers of growth over this period?
- How has the structure of the estate agents market changed in recent years?
- What impact has the growth of online and the decline of traditional bricks-and-mortar had on the UK estate agents industry?
- What does the future of the estate agents market look like?

The estate agents market has maintained growth over the past year despite difficult trading conditions triggered by Brexit. This resilience was aided by recovering demand and strong price growth, allowing the industry to overcome the climate of uncertainty, continued housing stock decline and a suppressed high-end market.
