“Amsterdam remains the epicentre of hotel development in the Low Countries, with some 50 hotels in the pipeline, though a brake has been put on future projects due to a recent ban on new hotel development. Luxembourg looks set for a significant expansion of its hotel capacity in the coming years, spurred on, in part, by relocating financial-sector executives from London due to Brexit.”

Jessica Kelly, Senior Tourism Analyst

This report looks at the following areas:

- What has been the recent trend in arrivals and overnights in hotels in the Low Countries?
- What is the breakdown of hotel capacity in the Low Countries by country/region?
- Which are the main regional hotel groups in the Low Countries and what is the nature of their hotel portfolios?
- How extensive is the presence of foreign hotel chains in the Low Countries?
- What has been the trend in hotel and alternative lodging development in the Low Countries?
- What has been the trend in hotel transactions in the Netherlands and Amsterdam?
