Current Accounts - Ireland

"Despite expected economic contraction and seemingly-intensifying pressure on household finances, ownership levels of current accounts will be largely unaffected; consumers still need current accounts. This is not to suggest, however, that broader environmental factors do not impact upon the current account market. Providers of fee-paying accounts may find it a ...

Car Insurance - Ireland

"While there are definite challenges facing the car insurance market – not least the impact of inflation on consumers' finances and the impact of claims inflation on insurers' own profitability – the obligatory nature of car insurance makes the industry fairly resilient. The current challenges can be seen as largely ...

Mortgages - Ireland

"Cost-of-living pressures as well as rising interest rates will combine to put a strain on new mortgage affordability, which will inevitably impact upon demand for new mortgages. While there may be more demand for mortgage refinancing as consumers shop around for better deals, some existing mortgage holders may struggle to ...

Savings - Ireland

"With huge uncertainty and anxiety around what the coming months hold, the current climate is one in which a high level of precautionary saving would ordinarily be expected. However, given the current cost-of-living crisis, many consumers are in no position to add to savings or make investments."
