

September 2023

Online Retailing - UK

“The online market is still finding its new equilibrium following the COVID-19 pandemic, but its role in all aspects of browsing and buying behaviour remains significantly heightened. The strong value credentials of the channel mean that it has overall gained in a market where shoppers are looking for value. The ...