

November 2022

Mechanical and Electrical Engineering - UK

“The mechanical and electrical engineering sector suffered strongly at the outset of the pandemic, but then recovered strongly. While 2021 still reflected pent-up demand from the COVID-19 interruption, 2022 has also witnessed strong demand. The strength of that demand has weakened as the year has progressed with the worsening economic ...