

March 2017

Gas Supply and Distribution - UK

“Ofgem has introduced a new regulatory framework, known as the RII model, for the current eight-year price controls for gas transmission and distribution networks, which run from April 2013 to March 2021. Under the new framework, the revenue earned by network operators is strongly linked to incentives, innovation and outputs ...