

March 2009

Ticketing and Distribution in the Airline Industry - International

This report reviews developments in the area of airline ticketing and distribution and provides an outlook for future trends. Air ticket distribution is carried out both directly by airlines via their websites, call centres or dedicated ticket sales offices and via third-party intermediaries – including global distribution systems (GDSs) and ...