

December 2016

Consumers and General
Insurance - UK

“Sales of general insurance are well set to grow by volume because of the captive customer bases in car and home insurance. However, intense price competition could hold back growth in premiums. Looking ahead to 2017, the pending rise in IPT will further squeeze the profitability of policies. Despite these ...