

April 2013

Car Purchasing Process - UK

“New car sales have failed to fully recover from their recent slump and there is need for more proactive action by manufacturers to boost sales. Progress has already been made in stimulating interest although to push sales on from current levels, both manufacturers and dealers need to do more to ...