

February 2023

Household Paper Products - UK

“Inflationary pressures and squeezed household incomes are leading consumers from all financial situations to use household paper products in greater moderation and switch towards lower-priced options. This makes it vital for brands to address demand for value and invest in campaigns designed to promote brand loyalty. New product launches with ...