

December 2017

Supermarket Retailing - Ireland

“Although supermarkets continue to dominate the market, their share of grocery sales has been steadily declining in recent years. The rise of discounters, coupled with the premium ‘facelift’ forecourt and convenience stores have witnessed, means that supermarkets are under intense pressure to continue to deliver on price and quality whilst ...