

September 2023*Current Accounts - Ireland

“Despite expected economic contraction and seemingly-intensifying pressure on household finances, ownership levels of current accounts will be largely unaffected; consumers still need current accounts. This is not to suggest, however, that broader environmental factors do not impact upon the current account market. Providers of fee-paying accounts may find it a ...