Group Pensions - UK

Demographic changes mean that greater significance needs to be placed on workers and employers to contribute to private pensions to ease the pressure on state funds. Yet, employer sponsorship of occupational pension schemes is in long-term decline, with falling levels of provision. New insurer-administered occupational (trust-based) pensions business has grown ...

Equity Release - UK

Despite having the potential to offer a large number of older homeowners a viable financial solution to funding their retirement, improving or maintaining living standards and paying for long-term care, the UK equity release market remains relatively small.
