

March 2013

Mortgages - UK

“There is a high degree of pent-up demand among prospective first-time buyers, with nearly 4 million UK adults looking to buy their first home over the coming year. However, with house prices still high relative to average earnings and tighter lending controls, for example in relation to income multiples and ...

January 2013

Personal Loans - UK

“The personal loans market has undergone something of a transformation over recent years as payday lenders and peer-to-peer lenders have established themselves as viable alternatives to more traditional options. High street lenders must now adapt to the changing face of the personal loan market and ensure that they are giving ...