

September 2023

Electric and Hybrid Vehicles - US

“Consumers’ growing interest in sustainability combined with automakers’ increasing commitment toward electric and hybrid vehicles presents a massive potential for growth in this category in the years ahead. However, obstacles such as perceptions, availability and affordability continue to pose challenges to consumers’ adoption. As such, it will be crucial for ...