Mortgages - Ireland

"Having been turned upside-down and inside-out by the financial crisis and ensuing economic recession, the mortgage market in Ireland has somewhat stabilized, but with the Brexit presenting a threat to consumer confidence in 2017, this may see willingness to buy a house decline once again."

Personal Loans - Ireland

"After a challenging period during and immediately following the recession, economic recovery and a significant upturn in consumer confidence have brought some upward momentum into the loans market in Ireland. It remains to be seen, however, how the UK's departure from the EU and the shift in policy from ...
