

September 2010

Discount Retailing - Ireland

Irish perceptions of discounter retailers are changing. The recession has forced many consumers to cut their food budgets, and thus more are shopping in discounters. First-hand experience has seen attitudes towards discounters improve between 2008 and 2010.