Mortgages - Ireland

"Cost-of-living pressures as well as rising interest rates will combine to put a strain on new mortgage affordability, which will inevitably impact upon demand for new mortgages. While there may be more demand for mortgage refinancing as consumers shop around for better deals, some existing mortgage holders may struggle to ...

Savings - Ireland

"With huge uncertainty and anxiety around what the coming months hold, the current climate is one in which a high level of precautionary saving would ordinarily be expected. However, given the current cost-of-living crisis, many consumers are in no position to add to savings or make investments."
