

November 2013

Car Purchasing Process - China

“Despite encouraging signs for 2013, in terms of new car sales growth, difficulties such as high inventory levels still persist, and the China car market is still facing a very complex developing environment. That said, China remains one of the most exciting car markets in terms of volume growth, which ...