

July 2012

Entertaining in the Home - Ireland

The trend for in-home entertaining is likely to continue even as the economy recovers, due to the wide array of events that can be customised to suit individual needs. However, like entertaining outside the home, consumers have cut back on their spending on in-home entertaining due to the economic climate ...

Adventure and Outdoor Tourism - Ireland

In both 2009 and 2010, Ireland has been ranked in the Adventure Travel Trade Association's Adventure Tourism Development Index as one of the top ten developed countries in the world with the potential to become a major adventure tourism destination. The natural environment of Ireland is suitable for a wide ...