

November 2017

Defence Industry - UK

“Despite possible changes to the level of defence spending set out in the 2015 SDSR, the recent decline in the value of sterling is likely to affect industry trading. The fall has made foreign equipment relatively more expensive to purchase, but has also made domestically-made defence products cheaper to foreign ...