

December 2009

Unsecured Personal Loans - UK

Drawing on a range of information sources, including Mintel's own consumer survey, this report will look at how lenders are adapting to the new pressures. The report includes a full appraisal of the issues and a five-year market size forecast.

October 2009

Car Finance - UK

The car market has been hit hard by the recession – as a big-ticket purchase, and one that can often be delayed, the industry has always been vulnerable to economic slowdowns. Car finance providers have been hit even harder, not only by falling car sales, but also by the turmoil ...

September 2009

Specialist Mortgage Lending - UK

The specialist mortgage sector has been in absolute turmoil over the past two years with certain product areas such as sub-prime under threat of extinction. Having previously experienced a sustained period of growth, development and innovation, the industry is now battling to survive the onslaught of the liquidity drought, facilitated ...

July 2009

Credit and Debit Cards - UK

Although consumers are increasingly turning to plastic cards instead of cash, the credit and debit card markets are heading in two different directions. A more mature market, credit card business has been relatively stagnant for the past several years – the number of credit cards in issue has actually been ...

June 2009

Current, Packaged and Premium Accounts - UK

The current account market is the cornerstone of the UK retail banking sector. As the most widely owned and regularly used financial product, current accounts enable providers to establish a valuable and often profitable relationship with consumers. However, over the recent past the sector has experienced a series of challenges ...

May 2009

Deposit and Savings Accounts - UK

The deposit-based savings industry has experienced the most turbulent period in its history during the course of the past 18 months. Indeed, the credit crunch and global banking crisis has precipitated the sad demise of several high-profile and long-established savings institutions including Bradford & Bingley, Northern Rock and the Dunfermline ...

April 2009

Eye on Intermediaries - Mortgages - UK

Mortgage intermediaries are experiencing a significant period of change, as challenging conditions in the mortgage and housing markets create a new landscape for mortgage distribution. Having generated a significant proportion of new mortgage lending in recent years, intermediaries have seen their share of the market fall sharply over the last ...

March 2009

Mortgages - UK

House prices have been in decline since around Q3 2007, having fallen by 16% in 2008 according to both the Halifax and Nationwide price indices. This has had major implications on the mortgage market, compounded by the fact that owing to massive losses from US sub-prime investments and bad debts ...

Market Re-forecasts - Retail Banking - UK

Mintel's re-forecasting puts markets in realistic light

January 2009

Secured Lending Products - UK

FS: Retail Banking - UK

This report examines the UK market for secured lending products, comprising both further advances and secured or homeowner loans.