

January 2015

Golf Tourism - Ireland

“With golf club memberships in decline and participation in golf low across Ireland – particularly in RoI – the sport will have to do more to adapt to lifestyles of modern consumers and offer less expensive and time-consuming ways to participate in the game. This will ensure the economic viability ...