

Consumers and Direct Investment - UK - October 2017

Report Price: £1995.00 | $2672.70 | €2262.13

The above prices are correct at the time of publication, but are subject to change due to currency fluctuations.

“Increasing numbers of people, from across the wealth spectrum, are choosing to invest directly rather than use an intermediary – and this trend is set to continue. Based on the findings of our research, many consumers are planning to start investing over the coming year. Most of these expect to self-invest, and many are open to the idea of using an online investment platform or similar service.”
– Sarah Hitchcock, Senior Financial Analyst

This report looks at the following areas:

- Engage with prospective investors and nurture the relationship
- Convincing the risk-averse with informal, entry-level propositions

DIY investing is becoming increasingly popular in the UK, mirroring similar trends seen internationally – especially in the US, which leads the way in areas such as robo advice. Here in the UK, increasing numbers of retail investors are similarly choosing to build and manage their own investment portfolios online, or are letting computer algorithms create and rebalance portfolios on their behalf. The direct investment market has grown to the point where providers now administer assets worth over £270 billion and around three fifths of regulated investment product sales are now being generated via non-advised channels.

The growth of the self-directed market has been facilitated by advances in technology and new innovations arising from the Fintech sector. Changes in the advice market have also played a huge role. As the intermediary market has had to adapt to new professional standards and a ban on commission-based sales, many financial advisers have shifted their focus onto more affluent clients, where there is scope to add value. At the same time, the retail banks scaled back or closed their face-to-face advice operations, creating an advice gap for those with smaller amounts to invest.

New technology-driven start-ups have emerged, aiming to fill this gap. They, along with direct-to-consumer (D2C) platforms and other online service providers, are helping to make investing more accessible and affordable for individual investors. Now retail banks, insurers and other wealth managers are responding to the changing environment. Many are ploughing money into new digital services and developing their own low-cost, consumer-friendly guidance solutions.

Faced with rising consumer demand, the prospects are bright for direct operators. However, as the options continue to expand for retail investors, with a widening array of research tools and propositions at their fingertips, providers in the D2C space will have to withstand intensifying competition. Inevitably, it will become harder for smaller brands to stand out and gain traction. It is therefore useful to appraise the needs and expectations of the target audience. Among other things, Mintel’s Report assesses the level of consumer interest in direct investment and how comfortable people are with key elements of investing. It also reveals what investors most want from an online platform or service, and measures their usage and awareness of 14 investment brands currently operating in the D2C market.

BUY THIS REPORT NOW

VISIT:
store.mintel.com

CALL:
EMEA
+44 (0) 20 7606 4533

Brazil
0800 095 9094

Americas
+1 (312) 943 5250

China
+86 (21) 6032 7300

APAC
+61 (0) 2 8284 8100

EMAIL:
reports@mintel.com

DID YOU KNOW?

This report is part of a series of reports, produced to provide you with a more holistic view of this market

Consumers and Direct Investment - UK - October 2017

Report Price: £1995.00 | $2672.70 | €2262.13

The above prices are correct at the time of publication, but are subject to change due to currency fluctuations.

Table of Contents

Overview

What you need to know

Report scope and market definitions

Executive Summary

The market

D2C investment market is worth £272 billion

Regulatory changes in the advice market have driven growth of non-advised sales...

Figure 1: Volume of advised and non-advised regulated retail investment sales, 2011-16

...although the distribution of more complex products remain heavily intermediated

A mix of factors are driving the trend towards DIY investment

Investment providers must adapt in a more transparent and competitive environment

FCA launches investigation into the platform sector

Companies and brands

The largest D2C platforms

Figure 2: Top five D2C platforms, by share of assets, 2016

Some platforms favour a fixed pricing model

More brands enter the D2C space, increasing competition

The rise of the robo-advisers

Hargreaves Lansdown is the leading D2C investment brand

Figure 3: Usage of selected investment brands, by investors who have self-invested within the past three years, July 2017

The consumer

Around two thirds of UK adults have savings or investments

Figure 4: Ownership of cash savings and investment products, July 2017

40% of investment-holders have self-invested within the past three years

Figure 5: Method of investing used with past three years, by amount of investible assets, July 2017

27% of self-directed investors usually use their mobile to invest

58% of investors are comfortable choosing their own investments and working out the charges

Figure 6: Level of comfort with choosing own investments and monitoring them, comparing charges and understanding tax implications, July 2017

11% of savers plan to start investing within the next 12 months

Figure 7: Method most likely to use to arrange or buy new investments, by existing and prospective investors, July 2017

Significant interest in online platforms and similar services

Investors want a simple and competitive pricing structure

Figure 8: Features most wanted from an online share dealing service or investment platform, July 2017

What we think

Issues and Insights

Engage with prospective investors and nurture the relationship

BUY THIS REPORT NOW

VISIT: store.mintel.com

CALL: EMEA +44 (0) 20 7606 4533 | Brazil 0800 095 9094

Americas +1 (312) 943 5250 | China +86 (21) 6032 7300

APAC +61 (0) 2 8284 8100 |

EMAIL: reports@mintel.com

Consumers and Direct Investment - UK - October 2017

Report Price: £1995.00 | $2672.70 | €2262.13

The above prices are correct at the time of publication, but are subject to change due to currency fluctuations.

The facts

The implications

Convincing the risk-averse with informal, entry-level propositions

The facts

The implications

The Market – What You Need to Know

D2C investment market administers assets worth £272 billion

Since 2012 there has been a shift towards non-advised channels...

...although this has not happened uniformly across all sectors

Advances in digital technology are helping to drive the trend towards DIY investment

Wealth managers face mounting pressure to improve governance and transparency

Market Size

D2C investment market worth £272 billion at the end of 2016

Figure 9: Retail investor assets under administration, by distribution channel, 2016

Direct channels account for a quarter of gross retail investment fund sales in value terms...

Figure 10: Gross retail investment fund sales, by distribution channel, 2015-16

...while three fifths of regulated retail investment product sales are now non-advised

Figure 11: Volume of advised and non-advised regulated retail investment sales, 2011-16

Market Segmentation

Distribution mix varies according to product type

Figure 12: Volume of advised and non-advised regulated retail investment sales, by product type, 2012-16

Market Drivers

Growth in DIY investment linked to advice gap created by RDR

Factors driving the growth of self-directed investing:

Summary of main market inhibitors:

Only 28% of UK adults are comfortable with taking risks with their money

Figure 13: Level of comfort with taking risks with savings, July 2017

Regulatory and Legislative Changes

FCA announces a raft of remedies to reform the asset management industry...

...and turns its attention to investment platforms

MiFID II deadline looms

FCA set to publish final guidance on FAMR imminently

Companies and Brands – What You Need to Know

The largest D2C platforms

Some platforms favour a fixed pricing model

A plethora of entrants and new propositions intensify competition

Hargreaves Lansdown is the leading D2C investment brand

BUY THIS REPORT NOW

VISIT: store.mintel.com

CALL: EMEA +44 (0) 20 7606 4533 | Brazil 0800 095 9094

Americas +1 (312) 943 5250 | China +86 (21) 6032 7300

APAC +61 (0) 2 8284 8100 |

EMAIL: reports@mintel.com

Consumers and Direct Investment - UK - October 2017

Report Price: £1995.00 | $2672.70 | €2262.13

The above prices are correct at the time of publication, but are subject to change due to currency fluctuations.

Competitive Strategies and Innovation

Hargreaves Lansdown is the largest D2C platform in the UK by some margin...

Figure 14: Top five D2C platform providers, by AUA, 2016 (year-end)

...but is set to face tougher competition from established rivals...

Barclays revamps its direct investment proposition to appeal to a wider audience

Smaller players holding their ground and performing well

...and from new low-cost entrant, Vanguard

Largest platforms cater for advisers

Proliferation of robo-advisers and online investment services

NatWest targets its online banking customers with a simplified investment solution

Platforms respond by launching new simplified solutions...

...while some seek to differentiate themselves with a fixed pricing model

Recent mergers and acquisitions

Investment Brand Awareness and Usage

Many investment brands suffer from low awareness...

Figure 15: Awareness and usage of selected investment brands, July 2017

...with newer entrants having a steeper road to climb than longer established brands

Hargreaves Lansdown and Aviva record the highest usage rates

Barclays rebrands to broaden its appeal

Hargreaves Lansdown is the clear market leader

Figure 16: Usage of selected investment brands, by investors who have self-invested within the past three years, July 2017

The Consumer – What You Need to Know

The more wealth people have the more likely they are to invest

Recent investors are just as likely to have gone direct as used an adviser

Three fifths are comfortable making their own investment choices

Going direct, means going online

Good growth prospects for D2C investment over the coming year

Investors want a low-cost, transparent proposition from a trusted brand

Level of Investible Assets and Product Ownership

30% of UK adults have £10,000 or more in savings

Figure 17: Level of investible assets, July 2017

Savers remain faithful to cash despite the paltry returns on offer

Figure 18: Ownership of cash savings and investment products, July 2017

28% of people with £50,000+ to invest are keeping all their money in cash

Figure 19: Ownership of cash savings and investment products, by amount of investible assets, July 2017

Method of Investment

Retail investors are as likely to self-invest as they are to use an adviser

Figure 20: Method of investing used with past three years, by amount of investible assets, July 2017

BUY THIS REPORT NOW

VISIT: store.mintel.com

CALL: EMEA +44 (0) 20 7606 4533 | Brazil 0800 095 9094

Americas +1 (312) 943 5250 | China +86 (21) 6032 7300

APAC +61 (0) 2 8284 8100 |

EMAIL: reports@mintel.com

Consumers and Direct Investment - UK - October 2017

Report Price: £1995.00 | $2672.70 | €2262.13

The above prices are correct at the time of publication, but are subject to change due to currency fluctuations.

6% used an investment club to invest

Level of Comfort Engaging in Self-directed Activities

Many investors are comfortable making their own investment decisions

40% of investors would be happy to try new guidance technology...

Figure 21: Level of comfort with choosing own investments, trying new guidance technology and mobile investing, July 2017

...mirroring a broader consumer trend

More than half are confident of working out the charges and tax implications of different products

Figure 22: Level of comfort with keeping track of investments, comparing charges, understanding tax implications and switching provider, July 2017

Investment Frequency and Channel Preference

60% of self-directed investors invest at least once a month...

Figure 23: Frequency of trading/investing, by method of investing, July 2017

...and 90% invest online

Figure 24: Channel usually used to invest, by method of investing, July 2017

Investment Intentions over the Coming Year

2.8 million are keen to start investing...

Figure 25: Identifying potential first-time investors, July 2017

...most of which are under the age of 45

Half of all existing investors expect to add to their portfolios over the coming year...

Figure 26: Investment plans over the coming year (existing investors only), July 2017

...and around three quarters of these plan to invest directly

Figure 27: Method most likely to use to arrange or buy new investments, by existing and prospective investors, July 2017

Investor Usage of and Interest in D2C Platforms

59% of prospective investors would consider using an investment platform

Figure 28: Usage and future consideration of online investment platforms/share dealing services, by existing and prospective investors, July 2017

What Investors Most Want from an Investment Platform

Competitive price is top consideration

Figure 29: Features most wanted from an online share dealing service or investment platform, July 2017

Around one in four wants online guidance

Appendix – Data Sources, Abbreviations and Supporting Information

Data sources

Abbreviations

Consumer research methodology

BUY THIS REPORT NOW

VISIT: store.mintel.com

CALL: EMEA +44 (0) 20 7606 4533 | Brazil 0800 095 9094

Americas +1 (312) 943 5250 | China +86 (21) 6032 7300

APAC +61 (0) 2 8284 8100 |

EMAIL: reports@mintel.com