“Growth in the eating-out market is being driven by affluent diners who are spending more on quality dining experiences as well as the convenience of quick meals through the home delivery channel. However, the market lacks budget-friendly options for price-conscious consumers, which has resulted in some worse-off consumers exiting the market in 2019.”
– Trish Caddy, Senior Foodservice Analyst
Table of Contents

Overview

What you need to know

Products covered in this Report

Executive Summary

The market

Value of eating-out market expected to hit £76.8 billion this year

Figure 1: UK eating-out market size and forecast, 2014-24

Pressure to promote healthier eating

Companies and brands

Rate of pub closures slowed in 2019

Demand for healthier grab-and-go at transport hubs

Ambitious target to cut food waste

The consumer

Worse-off consumers exiting the market

Figure 2: Overall eating out usage, May 2017, June 2018 and September 2019

Fast-food venues visited: eat-in

Figure 3: Fast-food outlets visited for eat-in occasions, September 2019

Fast-food venues visited: takeaway

Figure 4: Fast-food outlets visited for takeaway/delivery occasions, September 2019

Restaurants visited: eat-in

Figure 5: Restaurants visited for eat-in occasions, September 2019

Restaurants visited: takeaway

Figure 6: Restaurants visited for takeaway/delivery occasions, September 2019

Healthy is not a major sign of quality

Figure 7: Perceptions of a high-quality dish, September 2019

Recommended just for you

Figure 8: Ways to encourage diners to eat in or order takeaway from a particular food outlet/restaurant, September 2019

Bargain hunter mind-set

Speeding up the eating out process

Demand for healthy convenience

Figure 9: Attitudes towards food outlets/restaurants, September 2019

What we think

Issues and Insights

Technology: fuelling the rise in time saving

The facts

The implications
Menu trends: for the mindful diner
The facts
The implications
Marketing strategies: importance of accessibility
The facts
The implications

The Market – What You Need to Know

Value of eating-out market expected to hit £76.8 billion this year
Stricter rules on clear labelling
Pressure to promote healthier eating

Market Size and Forecast

Eating-out market driven by well-off diners
Figure 10: UK eating-out market size and forecast, 2014-24
Challenged by non-specialists
Figure 11: Example of Sainsbury’s fresh pizza offering
Future growth: the opportunities
Figure 12: UK eating-out market size and forecast, 2014-24
Forecast methodology

Market Drivers

Some consumers have stopped eating out
Figure 13: Trends in how respondents would describe their financial situation, October 2018-October 2019
Figure 14: Changes in participation in eating out, by financial situation, June 2018-October 2019
Making progress on healthy eating
400-600-600 calorie target
928 calories standard pizza
Meeting HFSS reduction targets
Stricter rules on clear labelling
Allergen labelling
Raising food hygiene standards
Hospitality recruitment getting increasingly difficult
Figure 15: Occupation, by employment status, April 2018-June 2019
Pay
Figure 16: NMW and NLW rates
Real estate: building the future of eating out
Hour of deliverance: dark kitchens
Rise of food halls

Companies and Brands – What You Need to Know

Rate of pub closures slowed in 2019
Emerging trend of pubs offering take-out
Demand for healthier grab-and-go at transport hubs
Ambitious target to cut food waste

Market Share and Segmentation

Pub closures continue
Figure 17: Number of pubs, bars and inns, and British restaurants, 2014-19

Independent pizza delivery has stretch
Figure 18: Number of pizza or Italian restaurants vs takeaway outlets, 2014-2019

Delivery spices up ethnic market
Figure 19: Number of Indian vs Chinese restaurants and takeaway outlets, 2014-19

Coffee shops market continues to brew
Figure 20: Number of coffee shops, cafés and tearooms, 2014-19

Fish and chips stuck in the slow lane
Figure 21: Number of seafood restaurants vs fish and chips outlets, 2014-19

Launch Activity and Innovation

Time saving functions
Click-and-collect
Cashless tipping
On-the-go consumption
Transport hubs
Vending machines
Ethical initiatives
Reducing single-use plastics
Removal of plastic toys
Biodegradable greaseproof paper inserts
Reusable coffee cup
Ambitious target to cut food waste
Supporting better chicken welfare

The Consumer – What You Need to Know

Worse-off consumers exiting the market
Gen Z driving coffee shop takeaways
More restaurant formats branch out into delivery
Healthy is not a major sign of quality
Demand for healthy convenience
Recommended just for you
Bargain hunter mind-set

Annual Changes in Eating Out Participation

Worse-off consumers exiting the market
Ethnic restaurants spice up the eat-in segment

Pubs are doing well in revenue terms

Delivery apps turn the tables on takeaway participation

Two in three eat out

'Millennial Pound' more hard-earned than ever

Cafés and coffee shops most popular eat-in venues

Gen Z driving coffee takeaways

Do more to attract Baby Boomers

British pubs are most popular destinations for eating out

More restaurant formats branch out in to delivery

Two thirds consider freshly prepared dishes to be of high-quality

Local, seasonal and natural qualities persuade more over-45s

Younger Millennials buy into ethically grown food

A third of diners yearn for authentic recipes

Healthy is not a major sign of quality

Ways to Encourage Visits

Recommended just for you

Self-service garnish/sauce counter

The bargain hunter mentality

Collection deals

End-of-day sale
Ethics: disconnect between Baby Boomers and younger diners
Figure 35: Ways to encourage diners to eat in or order takeaway from a particular food outlet/restaurant, by generations, September 2019

Stemming the plastic tide
Figure 36: Reusable and biodegradable bamboo and palm leaf straws, by disposablegreen.co.uk

Many are eating on-the-go
Figure 37: Example of power sockets on tables, as seen in Established Coffee (Dublin)

Street food
Figure 38: Panipuri, an example of Indian Street Food, as seen in Indian Food Festival, London

Solo booth/seating
Figure 39: Example of a solo booth, as seen in Japan
Figure 40: Example of barbecue for one, as seen on Time Out Tokyo

Attitudes towards Eating Out

Bargain hunters: a tiered pricing strategy
Everyday low prices
Cheaper to deliver
Figure 41: Attitudes towards food outlets/restaurants, September 2019

Speeding up the eating out process
It’s relaxing
It’s good for discovering promotions
It’s convenient
It’s agile

Women are roving food lovers
Street food markets are good for discovering global cuisines
There should be healthier grab-and-go food/drink choices at transport hubs ‘Happy Hour’ deals encourage them to visit outside of the usual peak times
Making thoughtful food choices
Use every part of the animal/plant
Charge more for high in fat/salt/sugar

“It’s ok to eat leftovers” – CHAID Analysis
Figure 42: Eating out review – CHAID – Tree output, September 2019

Eating Out Consumer Segmentation

Consumer tribes
Figure 43: Eating out attitudes - cluster analysis, September 2019

Typical characteristics of each group

Ethical diners
Figure 44: Ways to encourage eating out, by attitudes towards eating out - clusters, September 2019

Traditionalists
Pro-convenience
Bargain hunters