“Looking out over the coming decade, two key trends emerge in the interval-ownership and secondary-residence universe. It is likely that the burgeoning accommodation rental platforms will take share away from the traditional interval ownership sector in the Western world. Nevertheless, there is still great potential for expansion in China’s fast-growing leisure travel industry.”

This report looks at the following areas:

- How is the interval-ownership market segmented?
- Which are the key players in the timeshare market by geographical region?
